Training Methodology

Teaching takes place in a variety of settings, including face-to-face classroom teaching. It will ensure that participants can expand their knowledge of the subject and increase their skills. The course is delivered via various methods by a specialist tutor. This will include PowerPoint presentations, reviewing articles and other relevant materials, group or individual exercises and discussions. There may be some independent work set, and the course will require submitting articles to demonstrate understanding and an end-of-course test. Note-taking is encouraged, and you are welcome to use electronic devices to do this.

The course manual will form part of the learning but will give you references for the future. You are encouraged to ask questions and, if needed, spend time one-on-one with your tutor to review any issues. You will network with peers in similar roles during your time in the classroom.

Summary

Creating teamwork is essential for productivity. A strong leader is a key to this team and, as such, must understand and be able to demonstrate the core competencies needed to create team cohesion. They must also understand dynamics and personality types in order to create an open arena for a shared vision. A strong team needs clear guidance and commitment, as well as someone able to deal with conflict resolution. There is actually a level of informed science behind the dynamics and processes of a group working together.

In this course, delegates will learn the skills needed to develop a healthy team working culture and learn how to inspire and influence people. This is an essential course for all those with leadership responsibilities who want to ensure they can create happy, productive teams where individuals can develop skills and embrace their personal strengths. The course also covers mentoring, feedback, and motivating with rewards to ensure that the teams effectively achieve business purposes.
