

Innovation in a VUCA World

Duration: 5 Days

Language: en

Course Code: MG2 - 201

Objective

By the end of this course, participants will be able to:

- Understand the VUCA model and its relevance to modern innovation.
- Apply tools like Design Thinking and Lean Startup in uncertain contexts.
- Lead innovation initiatives in volatile and complex environments.
- Develop foresight and resilience in decision-making.

- Foster a workplace culture that embraces change and experimentation.

Audience

This course is ideal for:

- Business leaders and executives navigating change.
- Innovation and product managers.
- Strategy and development professionals.
- Entrepreneurs, founders, and change agents.
- NGO workers and social innovators facing dynamic field realities.

Training Methodology

This course uses an experiential and interactive learning model designed to promote deep understanding and practical application. Participants will engage in innovation simulations, strategic foresight activities, and team-based ideation workshops. Real-world case studies from both corporate and humanitarian sectors will be analysed. Learners will also work with innovation toolkits and reflection exercises to translate theory into actionable plans. Peer exchange, group feedback, and scenario-based learning will further strengthen collaboration and problem-solving skills.

Summary

In today's fast-changing global landscape, innovation is no longer optional—it is essential. This course explores how to harness creativity and strategic foresight to thrive in a VUCA (Volatile, Uncertain, Complex, Ambiguous) world. Participants will learn how to turn unpredictable challenges into opportunities by using agile innovation methods tailored to dynamic environments.

Through a mix of theory, real-world case studies, and practical exercises, the course empowers professionals to innovate with confidence, even when the path ahead is unclear. Learners will gain tools to build flexible strategies, encourage cross-functional collaboration, and promote a culture of experimentation and continuous learning.
